Financial woes force district to lay off 60 teachers

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Layoff notices will be distributed to approximately 60 teachers in the Romulus school district in order to ease financial pressures.

Teachers will receive notices in early April and the layoffs will go into effect in the fall. Names of teachers expected to receive notices were not released, but the selection will be based on seniority.

The layoffs will save the district approximately $1.4 million, according to Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations. The biggest drawback for students, according to Superintendent William Bedell, will be more students per classroom.

School officials blame the layoffs on two major factors - lack of state funding and declining enrollments.

The district, which serves 5,600 students, lost 300 students last year. Officials anticipate further decreases this year.

It was this downturn in enrollment figures which led to school officials' recent decision to close Hayti Elementary School at the end of the school year.

While this solved part of the problem, officials said most elementary schools in the district will face similar problems with enrollments of 300 and 400 students, in buildings designed to accommodate 600 students.

Fewer students is only part of the problem, school officials said. Lack of state funding has also put its mark on the Romulus school district.

Expenditures for the district are expected to top $24.7 million this year, Carr said. At the same time, the district must battle a $294,000 deficit - down from $1.4 million in the fall.

"We are going in the right direction," Carr said.

School officials looked to November millage proposals to ease the deficit. Prior to voter approval of the millage, program cuts were planned.

Now programs are safe, but the deficit is not expected to be eliminated by the end of the fiscal year, Bedell said.

"The millages we transferred were what was available without raising taxes," he said.

"The funds brought in are simply not enough.

"As long as the state keeps playing this game with us, we're going to be in trouble," Bedell said.

A recent proposal in Lansing, turned down by the state senate, appeared to be the last hope for improved state education funding.

"Now the fiscal reform has failed it's more imperative than ever than we cut back," Bedell said.

Pension plan for city workers reviewed

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The pension plan for city employees is slated for a comprehensive review.

City councilmembers Monday voted to retain the firm of Arnold & Company, Employee Benefit Administrators and Consultants to study the Romulus Employee's Money Purchase Pension Plan and Trust.

Councilmembers hope the review will clear up any existing confusion concerning the plan. Members of the Romulus Pension Commission, chaired by Councilman Pete Bergeron, recommended the review.

"We, as elected officials, have had questions about our retirement system since I've been a member of this body," Bergeron said.

One issue the study will address is whether or not the current plan and trust provided by Manufacturers Life is up-to-date in terms of federal and state laws. Consultants will also determine if the written plan is being implemented properly.

Additional concerns include the language of the plan, satisfaction of those covered by it, proper administration and whether or not a proper governing body for the plan exists.

"Nobody seems to know these things," Bergeron said. "The main thing we want to do is clear up the language in this plan."

The firm will charge $150 per hour for this review. With an estimated 75 hours of work, the city will be charged $11,250.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said he wanted councilmembers to meet with Craig Arnold, the actuary who will direct the review.

"Unless you tell him where the problems are, he won't accomplish anything," Raspberry said.

Raspberry also suggested that those covered by the plan put their concerns in writing before the review begins.

"This is the first positive step we've done," Councilman William Wadsworth said.

Development plan will be amended

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Representatives of Wayne County, the Romulus school district and Wayne County Community College (WCCC) will be appointed to a recently established Romulus development commission.

The commission will be called the Local Development Finance Authority. It will operate as a new form of Tax Increment Finance Authority, according to city officials.

Through TIFA development districts are established and projects are funded as public improvements. Revenue from the project is used to repay TIFA.

Due to a state statute passed in late 1987, TIFA is undergoing some changes. The statute requires the authority to be represented by area taxing jurisdictions: Wayne County, Romulus Community Schools and WCCC.

Why the change? "To include the folks whose money we're capturing," Community Development Director Dennis Oakes said.

To accommodate this change and others, city officials have elected to form a new group - the Local Development Finance Authority.

An additional modification with the LDFA will involve the scope of projects with which it

Signs of spring

The weather may be a bit nippy these days. Snow on the first day of spring can be discouraging. Nevertheless, spring is here! And, Easter is on the way. Evidence of the new season can be found at Rush's Flower Shop on Henry Ruff Road in Romulus. The shop is filled with spring flowers - tulips, daffodils, lilacs, daisies... Employee Pam Brown (above) is placing the flowers in special displays.

Police search for hit-and-run driver

A Romulus resident bicycling northbound on Wayne Road Thursday night was the victim of a hit-and-run accident, police officials said.

Louis Dupree is listed in critical condition at the University of Michigan Medical Center, in Ann Arbor. He received extensive head injuries, according to police officials.

The accident occurred at 11:25 p.m. near the exit ramp for westbound I-94. Dupree was reportedly struck from behind by a vehicle heading north on Wayne Road.

Police officials are looking for a brown or burnt-red small, foreign vehicle, possibly a Toyota Celica. The car should have damage to the windshield on the passenger side. Following the accident, the driver headed westbound on I-94.

Dupree was taken to Annapolis Hospital, in Wayne, and was later transferred to the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Individuals with information concerning the accident, the car or possibly the owner of the car should call the Romulus police at 941-8400.

Commission beings award nominations

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The Distinguished Service Award of the Romulus Recreation Commission has a formal title, but it is really for a down-to-earth type of person.

The award is presented to residents who volunteer their time to help other have fun - little league softball coaches, senior activity organizers, dunk-tank victims...

Since the annual award was established four years ago, the main focus has been to recognize residents who have spent at least five years as a volunteer in at least one recognized recreational activity in Romulus.

Once again, members of the recreation commission are distributing nomination applications. Commission members will vote on the nominations during their first April meeting, according to Debbie Dick, recreation department director. All applications must be received by 4:30 p.m. April 3.

The winner will be announced during Michigan Week, in May, and a plaque will be awarded.

"We try to surprise them," Dick said.

For those interested in nominating someone, but unable to come to the recreation center, applications can be mailed.

"If they know someone who deserves the award, take the two minutes to fill out an application," she said.

For more information on the distinguished service award, call the recreation department at 942-6852.

Marshmallow drop is set for Friday

It won't be snow or rain, but it will be 20,000 marshmallows falling from the sky when officials from the Wayne County Parks System host the Wayne County Great Marshmallow Drop at 11 a.m. Friday in the Middle Rouge Parkway, Ann Arbor Trail and Hines Drive, in Westland.

A helicopter will drop the fluffy treats for kids to pick up and turn in for a prized-filled Easter egg.

Kids will be divided into age groups, to give younger children an extra chance. The event began in 1978 as an alternative to an Easter egg hunt.

If the weather is poor Friday, the event will be staged at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Other events scheduled this year by Wayne County Parks System officials include the following:

- Saturday in the Park, May 6 through Sept. 23 in the Middle Rouge Parkway. Six miles of Hines Drive will be closed each Saturday to traffic between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

- Mud Day - Two hundred tons of topsoil and 20,000 gallons of water will be combined to create a mud pit every 6-year-old dreams about. The event, scheduled, May 13, includes the crowning of Mr. and Ms. Mud in the Middle Rouge Parkway, in Westland.

- Nursery School Olympics - A fun-filled day for 3- and 4-year-olds is set at 11 a.m. May 20 at the Nankin Mills center, on Ann Arbor Trail, in Westland. Events include miniature golf, paper-plate disc throw, marshmallow shot put and the Big Wheel grand prix.

- Rouge Rescue '89 - Set for Saturday, June 3, the event is a cooperative effort with the Friends of the Rouge River to clean up the polluted local waterway.

For more information on county parks events, call 261-1990.

State lawmakers viewed on cable

First, there was C-SPAN, the national cable-television show that presented sessions of the U.S. House of Representatives. Then, there was C-SPAN II, which showed the U.S. Senate in session.

Now, a Michigan version of the two stations is going to local cable-television subscribers' homes.

Legislative Forum, produced by members of the House Democratic Press Office, features Michigan House of Representative members discussing their bills and other issues of statewide concern, according to David Forsberg, anchor and a producer of the show.

The show is taped biweekly and shown on 63 state cable television stations. In addition, segments of the show have been seen on some major commercial stations in the state, Forsberg said.

Locally, segments of the political show have been shown on the Channel 62 news broadcast. The show is also seen regularly on the following local cable stations:

- Canton Township - Channel 15, 3 p.m. Tuesdays;
- Wayne - Channel 11, 7 p.m. Fridays, 3:30 p.m. Mondays; and
- Westland - Channel 11, 8 p.m. Wednesdays, 8:30 p.m. Thursdays.

Congressmen seek entries

U.S. Congressmen William D. Ford (D-Taylor) and Sander Levin (D-Southfield) are still seeking nominations for their Congressional Medal of Merit programs.

The medals are designed to help identify and acknowledge young people who have demonstrated exemplary citizenship and genuine concern for the welfare of others.

Ford's district includes the cities of Wayne, Westland, Belleville, Romulus and the townships of Van Buren, Canton and Sumpter.

Levin's district includes the city of Inkster.

For more information, call Ford's local office at 722-1411 or Levin's local office at 559-4444.

Summer jobs: Area youths urged to apply

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

With the arrival of spring comes the promise of summer, and the object of every young person's desire - a summer job.

For every youth who wants to work during the summer, there is a job available, according to Pam Pinegar, contract operations manager for Wayne County Private Industry Corporation.

The WCPIC is responsible for coordinating the Summer Youth Employment Training Program, funded under the Title IIB Job Training Partnership Act, and the Michigan Youth Corps, conceived by Gov. James Blanchard and funded by the state.

The Summer Youth Employment program is geared toward economically disadvantaged 14- to 21-year-olds.

The Michigan Youth Corps program is geared toward 18- to 21-year-olds with no income guidelines.

All of the jobs are with government, public or non-profit agencies, paying the current minimum hourly wage of $3.35.

"We're looking to serve 1,300 kids in the Summer Youth program," Pinegar said, "and 1,100 in the Michigan Youth Corps."

The WCPIC coordinates both programs in Belleville, Canton Township, Wayne, Westland and Inkster. Belleville summer job programs are coordinated by a Downriver agency.

Pinegar is cautiously optimistic about a new pilot program destined for Wayne and Westland, which would combine the work experience programs with a remedial education program.

The proposed program, still in the planning stages, is scheduled for final approval April 11.

To apply for summer jobs, young people must bring documentation supporting eligibility. For Summer Youth jobs, young people will need to verify family income, residency and age.

Although the application process has not yet begun, Pinegar said, young people interested in obtaining a summer job may find out more about the programs through counselors at their schools.

Home sales: Despite national trend, local market booming

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Bucking the national trend, the local home-sales picture is better than ever, according to officials from the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Locally, the city of Westland continues to set a torrid sales pace, as 86 home-buyers found the "house of their dream" in that city. During the first two months of the year, Westland Realtors sold 131 homes at a median price of $59,950, setting the pace for area communities.

Nationally, the housing market and the resale of houses are cooling because of an increasing mortgage rate and the uncertainty in the job market, officials said.

Carol Bird, of Carol Bird & Associates, in Belleville, believes that homes remain an excellent investment. "There will always be a market for homes for many reasons - people get married, divorced or are transferred," Bird said, "and these people will need to sell or buy homes. There is what appears to be a perpetual market.

"And, considering that the home-mortgage interest is the only remaining major federal and state tax-deduction the federal government allows, you can see why many people continue to purchase homes."

Although the current mortgage-interest rates fluctuate between 10.5 and 11 percent, Bird's best sales years were when the interest rates were between 13 and 14 percent. She believes, therefore, that current mortgage rates will not thwart serious home-buyers.

Will the rate stabilize or continue to increase? "My crystal ball is broken," Bird said. "It's always difficult to say where the rates will go. However, the mortgage companies - those who keep a pulse on these things - project higher rates."

Meanwhile, year-end statistics compiled by Metro MLS, the largest multiple listing service in the state, showed that members enjoyed the third highest number of unit sales on record in 1988, while setting a new high for residential sales dollar volume.

"The 17,731 unit sales of 1988 are only exceeded by the 18,480 of 1978 and the 18,206 of 1979," said Eric J. Hunt, Metro MLS president. "Residential dollar volume exceeded $1.5 billion for the first time, with a total of ($1.5 billion).

"Looking back at the price rise over the past few years indicates merit in the old Realtor adage that now is always the best time to buy a home," Hunt said. "We expect the upward trend here to continue, but the pace may be slowed somewhat by the recent increase in mortgage interest rates, which tend to soften the housing market."

Local housing market skyrockets

January and February have been especially good months for area real-estate agents. Realtors say the two months signal a local housing boom that is increasing, despite higher mortgage interest rates nationwide.

Local housing sales reported to the Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors for 1989 and 1988 follow. Average price is the average market price of a home in each community.

Regional airport noise study eyed

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Noise from Detroit Metropolitan Airport has long been a concern of surrounding communities. The possibility of an airport expansion has prompted some city officials to consider implementation of a complete noise study of the facility.

The suggestion for such a study came from Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally during an executive session of the Conference of Western Wayne last week. City officials from several nearby communities, including Huron Township, Van Buren Township, Plymouth Township and Westland expressed interest.

"Some of us that are considerably affected by airport noise thought we would like to get a consultant on the subject," McAnally said.

A private consulting firm, Landrum & Brown, is putting the final touches on a noise impact study commissioned by airport officials. The Chicago-based firm is also responsible for studying airport improvements including a possible expansion.

"We're sure Landrum & Brown is doing a fine job. We just would like additional information," McAnally said.

Through this proposed study, McAnally would like the accuracy of noise-metering procedures tested. She also wants information on tax abatement opportunities based on airport noise.

"A look at all the options..." she said.

David Jacokes, supervisor of

Van Buren Township, said he is interested in the study as it pertains to safety and development as well as noise impact.

Jacokes wants information on revised flight patterns, the number of aircrafts using the expanded airport and responses to potential emergency situations.

"We should be in a position to address these problems...The time to do that is prior to an expansion," Jacokes said.

Mayor Charles Griffin, of Westland, expressed similar concerns.

"I'm interested in the impact of being in a flight path...with zoning and development," he said.

McAnally hopes she can meet with officials from other communities expressing interest during April.

School reform: State lawmakers remaining optimistic

New proposal expected soon

Local state lawmakers have not yet given up on the proposed school-finance reform package defeated last week in the state Senate.

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) remains optimistic that the lawmakers will be able to develop a school-finance-reform bill that will be acceptable to Michigan voters.

"I sincerely believe that the legislative leaders will come up with an idea (for school finance) within the next couple of weeks," Faust said. "The governor has convened legislative leaders and interest groups to discuss the latest developments."

Faust believes there were serious flaws in the proposal. "Even some of the people who supported it on the floor said that they would not go out and try to sell it. If that is so, why waste between $6 to $7 million to hold an election? It would have been an exercise in futility," Faust said.

Members of the state Senate March 15 rejected the Nye-Oxender bill - the school-reform package - 24-14. The rejection eliminates any chance of the proposal appearing before voters in an earlier mentioned May 16 statewide election.

Members of the state House had earlier approved the proposal.

The Nye-Oxender proposal would have generated approximately $500 million new dollars for education by increasing the state sales tax from 4 to 6 cents. As an incentive, the lawmakers were offering an average 37-percent decrease in property taxes.

The demise of the proposal was due to bipartisan politics, interest groups - including opposition by the powerful Michigan Chamber of Commerce - and the unwillingness of lawmakers to publicly support it, according to Faust.

State lawmakers will return to Lansing April 3, after a two and one-half week Easter recess.

Tax financing would be hurt

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

School administrators aren't the only ones confused by the latest attempt in Lansing to achieve school finance reform.

Defeated by a close margin in the state Senate March 15, House Joint Resolution B had economic planners perplexed, particularly in the area of tax abatements and Tax Increment Finance Authorities.

Tax Increment Finance Authority is the means whereby municipalities use property taxes to finance sewers, downtown development projects and other commercial projects.

"There are a lot of questions, concerns," said Robert O. McMahon, manager of community and economic development for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

"It was difficult to understand."

As part of HJR B, property taxes would have been reduced an average of 37 percent, residential; 22 percent, business. TIFAs rely on collecting the increased value in a property, based on the number of mills levied against it.

"If you build a building and the land and building together have a value of $1 million, in most circumstances, that increase would go to the schools," state Rep. Jim Kosteva (D-Canton) said. "Under a TIFA, that increase goes to the city."

And, with lower property taxes, as proposed by HJR B, cities would have received less TIFA funding.

To compound the situation, many communities have initiated bond issues to finance their TIFA projects, with the intent of paying off the bond with future TIFA revenue. With less future TIFA revenue as a part of the HJR B package, many bond issues would be in jeopardy.

For the moment, with the defeat of HJR B in the Senate, local communities with TIFA projects won't have to worry, but, Kosteva said, they'll likely see parts of HJR B resurface in the near future.

CHEESECAKE HEAVEN

Variety is spice in these recipes

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

She's everywhere, or so it seems, and frankly it's beginning to get a bit wearing on the nerves. She flaunts herself and her wares (so to speak) in front of every man who passes by, putting temptation directly into the paths of mere males of all ages, who are, after all, only human. It's disgusting.

Obviously, the seductress who has prompted such a reaction is that temptress Debbie Fields. This vamp provokes the lust of every man, some women, and all children entering any shopping mall. In several places, this exhibitionist has not one, but two locations emitting the voluptuous fumes of freshly baked chocolate chip and oatmeal cookies.

That competition was fair, I mean, my cookies can stand up to the challenge of this amateur any day—but when this upstart began to throw things like dream bars and brownies into the fray, well, I admit it, I lost my temper.

C'mon Debbie, fair is fair, and this is just plain street fighting. But if you are going to stoop to these depths to prove yourself, I guess I'm just going to have to bring out the big guns.

This is a recipe that ole Debbie would kill for and has tried to mass produce in her attempts to seduce husbands and children from the kitchens of loving wives, mothers and grandmothers. Give it up, Deb, we gotcha with this one.

Peanut butter and fudge brownies

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 4 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup cocoa powder
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup peanut butter chips
- 3/4 cup peanut butter
- 1/3 cup butter, softened
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 3/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 eggs

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 13-by-9-inch pan. In large bowl, beat 2 cups sugar and 1 cup butter until light and fluffy. Add 4 eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in 2 teaspoons vanilla. Lightly spoon flour into measuring cup. In small bowl, combine 1 1/2 cups flour, cocoa, baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Gradually add flour mixture to sugar mixture and mix well. By hand, stir in chips. In small bowl, beat peanut butter and 1/3 cup butter until smooth. Add 1/3 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 3/4 teaspoon vanilla and 2 eggs and beat until smooth. Spread half of chocolate mixture in prepared pan. Spread peanut butter mixture over chocolate mixture and top with remaining chocolate mixture. Gently cut through layers with knife to marble. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes or until top springs back when touched lightly in center and brownies begin to pull away from pan. Cool.

Frosting

- 3 3-ounce squares unsweetened baking chocolate
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 2/3 cups powdered sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 to 5 tablespoons water

In medium saucepan, melt chocolate and 3 tablespoons butter over low heat, stirring constantly until well blended. Remove from heat and stir in powdered sugar, salt, vanilla and enough water for desired spreading consistency. Blend until smooth and frost cooled brownies. Cut into bars.

Cheesecake. It is amazing how one word can evoke so many images. Guilt. Temptation. Calories. Heaven.

For many, cheesecake is considered the ultimate dessert and well-worth any of the consequences it carries. For Belleville resident Debbie McNally, cheesecake is simply one of the things she enjoys baking.

McNally's love for cooking is certainly popular with her husband, the Belleville fire chief, and the couple's five children. McNally enjoys being creative with her cheesecakes. She was inspired by a bake shop near Flint, her first home, which featured specialty cheesecakes ranging from chocolate- to liquor-flavored.

"I was always fascinated by the style," she admitted.

McNally has worked for Elias Brothers food service for seven years and caters independently. Thus, experimentation opportunities have been plentiful.

"I like to do this kind of thing. It's fun," she said.

Creativity is the watchword for cheesecakes, McNally said. But caution is also a useful part of the cheesecake maker's vocabulary.

"You have to be really careful with the temperature and opening the oven door," McNally said. "Regular cakes fall. Cheesecakes crack."

Also important is to avoid short-cuts, McNally said. Once, she tried to soften her cream cheese for a recipe by putting it in the microwave oven. The cheese became too soft, and the cake failed.

She now suggests cutting the cream cheese into 1-inch squares and allow them to warm to room temperature.

When folding whipping cream into the mixture, McNally also uses caution. She recommends the use of a spatula.

One simple way to experiment with cheesecake, McNally said, without creating trauma is to add an extract for flavor. The extract should be added in place of grated lemon peel for the filling.

Nevertheless, recipes for cheesecake do not have to be intimidating, McNally said.

"I think a beginner could do it if they follow the directions closely," McNally said.

Along with cheesecake, McNally enjoys making candy and experimenting with Chinese, Italian and Mexican foods.

"Everything you shouldn't eat," she laughed.

Here are a few recipes you should . . .

Cheesecake supreme (New York style)

For the crust:

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 slightly beaten egg yolk
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla

For the filling:

- 5 8-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 3/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 or 5 eggs (1 cup)
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup whipping cream

Start with crust. Combine first three ingredients. Cut in butter until mixture is crumbly. Add egg yolk and vanilla. Blend thoroughly. Pat 1/3 of dough on bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan (sides removed). Bake in 400-degree oven approximately 8 minutes or until golden. Cool. Attach sides to bottom, butter and pat remaining dough on sides to height of 1 3/4 inches.

Begin filling. Let cream cheese stand at room temperature to soften (about 1 1/2 hours) in advance. Beat until creamy. Add vanilla and lemon peel. Mix next three ingredients, gradually blending into cheese. Add eggs and egg yolks one at a time, beating after each just to blend.

Gently stir in whipping cream. Turn into crust-lined pan. Bake at 450 for 12 minutes. Reduce heat to 300 and continue baking 55 minutes. Remove from oven. Cool. Loosen sides with spatula after 1 1/2 hour. Remove sides at end of 1 hour. Allow to cool at least 2 hours. Serves 12. Pie filling or a fruit glaze can be used for slices.

Marble cheesecake

- 1 6-ounce package semisweet chocolate morsels
- 1 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons plus 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter
- 3 8-ounce packages cream cheese (room temperature)
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sour cream

Melt chocolate morsels in top of double boiler over hot water. Combine 3/4 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar and salt. Cut in butter until particles are fine. Stir in 2 tablespoons melted chocolate. Press into bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan. Bake at 400 for 10 minutes.

Soften cream cheese with 1 cup sugar in mixing bowl. Blend in 1/4 cup flour and vanilla. Add egg yolks. Beat well. (For a firmer cheesecake, add 6 whole eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Omit egg whites). Blend in sour cream. Beat egg whites until peaks form. Fold into the cheese mixture. Pour half of the plain mixture over the baked crust. Top with spoonfuls of the chocolate mixture. Cover with the remaining mixture, then with the chocolate mixture.

Cut through the batter with spatula to marble. Place in 400-degree oven. Set at 300 degrees immediately. Bake 1 hour. Turn oven off. Allow to remain in closed oven 1 hour. Cool away from draft 2 to 3 hours. Chill at least 8 hours before serving. To cut, use a hot, wet, sharp knife. Serves 12.

Festive cheesecake

For the crust:

- 1 1/4 cups graham crackers (crumbled)
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine (melted)

For the cheesecake:

- 5 8-ounce packages cream cheese (soften 1 1/2 hours)
- 1 3/4 cup sugar

- 3 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons grated lemon rind or lemon extract
- 5 eggs
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup whipping cream

For glaze and fruit:

- Whole strawberries or halves
- Green grapes
- Pineapple rings (cut in half)
- Apricot halves
- Blueberries

Pat crust mixture on bottom and sides of a 9-inch spring-form pan. Crust should go up 1 3/4 inches. Gently combine cheesecake ingredients and put in crust. Bake at 500 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce to 200 degrees for 1 hour. Remove from oven and allow to cool 2 to 3 hours. When ready to glaze, begin with outer edge of cake. Place strawberries, alternating with green grapes.

Place pineapple slices, alternating with apricots. In middle, mound with blueberries. Take juices of all but strawberries, mix with 1 tablespoon corn starch, 2 tablespoons water, add 1 drop yellow food coloring. Heat and spoon over entire top of cheesecake. Serves 12.

JUST MARRIED

Liebman — Coleman

Margo D. Liebman, of Plymouth, and Christopher D. Coleman, of Lauren Court, Belleville, were united in marriage during an afternoon ceremony Feb. 11 at the Dixboro United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor.

Approximately 100 guests attended the double-ring ceremony, which was officiated by the Rev. Charles R. Marble.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Liebman, of Plymouth. She is an August 1988 graduate of Huron High School, in Ann Arbor, and a June 1988 graduate of the Huron Valley Beauty Academy. She placed third in the daytime-styles competition at HVBA in 1988.

She is currently employed at the Petrie Stores Corp., a dress shop in Belleville.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Coleman, of Lauren Court, Belleville. He is a 1987 graduate of Belleville High School and has attended Washtenaw Community College. He works as a line supervisor at Daikin Clutch Manufacturing, in Belleville.

The church was decorated with floral arrangements on the altar. The displays feature white roses, fern and baby's breath. Two pillars had a spray of green ferns and large white ribbon on each side of the steps leading to the altar.

Organ music was provided by the church organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who escorted her down the aisle of the 130-year-old church.

The bride wore a white, satin gown, featuring a high

Victorian neckline, a fitted bodice of Alencon lace and lattice-design beading, leg-o'-mutton sleeves of satin puff and Alencon lace, a full ballroom skirt with bubble pleum and semi-cathedral-length train.

She also wore a fingertip veil with beaded crown. Pearls were scattered throughout. Her bouquet featured white roses, white carnations, orchids, green ivy, baby's breath, cascading approximately 18 inches.

Maid of honor for the occasion was Lesah Liebman, of Plymouth, the bride's sister.

Best man was Joseph Lyson, of Belleville, the groom's long-time best friend. Groomsmen included Michael and Daniel Scott, of Belleville.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Plymouth Manor, in Plymouth. The entire wedding was coordinated by the bride's mother.

Connie Fox, of Westland, played the harp during the reception.

The two traveled to Kentucky for a one-week honeymoon. They have made their new home in Belleville.

NEW ARRIVALS

Kathryn Avis

Kathryn Nicole Avis was born the third child of Martin and Kim Avis Feb. 7.

The infant made her debut weighing 9 pounds 14 ounces and measuring 21 1/2 inches.

She is the new sister of Brad, 3, and Danny, 1; the first granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fredenburg and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Avis, of Garden City; the new great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reese, of Westland, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Fredenburgh, of Green Valley, Ariz., Mrs. Mattie Lebring, of Detroit, and Mrs. Beatrice Adams, of Logan, W. Va.; and the new great-great-granddaughter of Mrs. Esther Rork, of Livonia.

AVOID HAND INJURIES—USE CAUTION AT HOME AND AT WORK

By Richard Singer, M.D.

Hand injuries happen quickly. In a fraction of a second, in the quick flash of a blade, a person may cut off a finger or crush a hand.

Just one brief, startling moment on the job, in the kitchen, in the shop, or on the athletic field may be the beginning of months of treatment and rehabilitation.

Many hand-injured patients need multiple operations which may include highly skilled techniques, such as microsurgery.

The work is intricate and precise. In reattaching a severed finger, the vessels that have to be reconnected are less than one millimeter in diameter. The sutures are smaller than a human hair.

After the surgery or surgeries, the patient often has to undergo a long period of physical therapy.

CAUTION IS THE KEY

Many hand injuries are caused by improper use of power tools. In many cases, these injuries are avoidable.

When using power tools, always read the instructions and operate the tools only in the proper way. Never remove safety guards or devices. And remember, alcohol and power tools never mix.

Common household accidents also may lead to hand injuries. Laceration of the hand by a sharp knife, a broken glass in the dish water, or broken glass in a storm door may require immediate medical attention.

TAKE PROMPT ACTION

When an injury occurs, prompt attention is important.

First, inspect the hand to make sure all of the injuries have been identified. Second, stop the bleeding by applying direct pressure to the damaged area. Then, go to a clinic or emergency room.

If a finger or hand has been amputated, put it in a moistened towel. Put the towel in a plastic bag, and then put the bag on ice.

A great deal can be done to help people with hand injuries. But extra caution may help you avoid many injuries in the first place.

All-area crop is better every year

These prep cage stars can do it all

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Ten outstanding all-around athletes, who proved that they can do it all on a basketball court, were named this week to the Associated Newspapers' All-Area team.

Led by two 6-8 seniors, the 1989 prep cage elite is among the best in recent years. This year's nominees are in the same class of former All-Area graduates Johnny Long, Eartha Faust, Grant Long, and many others.

The lineup includes: Maurice Brantley (6-8, Belleville), Grayam Scott (6-8, Romulus), Mike Harrison (5-10, New Boston Huron), Michael Aaron (6-5, Robichaud), Virgil Davis (5-11, Romulus), Rodney James (6-3, Robichaud), Gary Johnson (5-11, Inkster), Kevin Hunter (6-3, Belleville), Mike Debozy (5-10, New Boston Huron), and Kevin Pinkston (6-1, Inkster).

Named to coach this mythical team is Michael Garland of Belleville. Garland, also a former All-Area cager, led the Tigers to their first Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball championship.

Here are the credentials of the players who make up the 1989 team:

BRANTLEY, a four-year starter for the Wolverine 'A' Conference champs, was the mainstay of the Tiger assault. Coaches knew that they had to stop the 6-8 guard-forward if they wanted to beat Belleville. Few were successful. Brantley wound up scoring 24 points per game and was phenomenal from the three-point range, according to Brantley. Maurice also grabbed 12 rebounds, had 4.3 assists to go along with his two steals per game.

"Maurice was the key that made this team go this year," Garland pointed out. "He was double teamed and our opposition's strategy obviously was centered around stopping him. He did an excellent job and carried us to our first conference title."

Garland noted that Maurice was a role model for his teammates not only on but off the court.

Xavier of Ohio is the recipient of Brantley's athletic talents. He has signed a letter of intent to attend the university this fall.

SCOTT, a dynamic player, also was the center of attraction as he helped the Eagles of Romulus win their third Class A district title in four years. Picked by the South Central Conference coaches for all-league accolades, Grayam ends a three-year varsity career with a 13.5 average and a 13.3 rebounds per game effort.

"Scott carried a heavy burden on his shoulders this season," said Romulus Coach Dan Henry. "He had to work overtime on both boards, battling against teams that had more overall height than we did. I could not afford to give him the rest he needed to remain fresh because once Grayam left the game, we became vulnerable."

HARRISON, deadly from three-point range, had the guards who were assigned to stop him talking to themselves most of the season. He was among the unstopables. With a 18.7 scoring point average and 431 total points for the season, the 5-10 senior guard displayed uncanny shooting talent. One can only speculate what he would have accomplished if he was teamed with the likes of Scott and Brantley.

"Mike is one of the most toughest competitors I have ever coached," said New Boston's Larry Swick. "There isn't enough you can say about this fine young man. It's been a pleasure coaching him."

Harrison also was named by the Huron Conference coaches to all-league, first team. Along with those 431 points, Mike had three assists and three steals per game.

DAVIS is another one of those who you don't allow to roam free in the three-point range. He'll burn you all the time. Ask Coach Van Kostegian of Taylor Truman. Just when Truman thought they might pull the district title out from Romulus' mitts, Davis went to work and hit on five straight three-pointers.

"Virgil came on strong at the end of the season," said Henry. "He gave us the needed lift when it counted and helped us

This edition of the Associated Newspapers' salutes the high school basketball teams and players in the area. Moreover, it was action like that pictured above which made the year an unforgettable one. From the ranks of those who led their teams, the ANP sports staff singled out the cream of the crop for the elite 1989 All-Area Team. Next week, the ANP will present the top wrestlers in the area. Garland is top coach in area

ANP Staff Writer

It was a rough climb to the top of the hill for sophomore Belleville basketball coach Michael Garland, but he made it. The popular Tiger coach led his cagers to a 16-4 record, their best in recent years, and their first Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball championship in 1989.

And for his efforts, the Associated Newspapers has selected Garland as its Coach of the Year.

Garland attributes the successful campaign to the willingness of his players "to sacrifice."

"I had 12 players on this team who have been instilled with the desire to win," Garland noted. "And they also were willing to sacrifice and work hard to reach that goal."

"When you have all of those elements going for you on one team, it's difficult not to win. These kids exemplified what high school athletics and sports are all about."

Garland's team had an excellent role model. Their coach. As a former Belleville cage star during the 1969-1972 era, Garland was one of the most respected players to ever wear a Tiger basketball uniform. He earned All-Area recognition and was considered one of the top players in his league.

Later, at Northern Michigan University, Garland also excelled in sports as well in the classroom. He returned to Van Buren to teach and coach within the school district.

Married to Cynthia, the Garlands have three small children.

"I have had some excellent coaches who were outstanding role models when I was growing up," Garland reflected. "And I want those whom I coach to some day look back and say the same about me."

Romulus cage coach resigns

Robichaud also is in the market for a new coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus and Robichaud high schools are in the market for new varsity head basketball coaches.

Dan Henry, who guided Romulus to a Class A district championship and a 15-9 won-lost season, has announced that he will not be returning to the team next year.

Monte Dennard, who was the Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year a year ago, submitted his resignation as the Robichaud head basketball coach.

Henry moved up to the head coaching job three years ago after the Eagles, under Coach Al Wilkerson, had captured their first Class A state championship. He informed school officials that he is ending his 12 year coaching career because he wishes to spend more time

It is a very difficult decision for me to make.
— Coach Dan Henry

with his family.

Henry and his wife, JoAnn, have three small children. However, Henry said that he didn't close the door on coaching at some future date.

"My wife and I have talked this over," Henry said by telephone last week. "It is a very difficult decision to make, but the family comes first. And I would like to spend more time with them."

"I have three small children who are growing up fast. They need me and I want to be there to fill their needs."

Romulus High Athletic Director Fred Coleman said that he respects his coach's wishes, even though he also regrets seeing Coach Henry leave the position.

"Coach Henry has had a positive effect on the program and the athletes he has coached," Coleman said. "However, he has a young family and it's understandable that their needs come first."

Coleman said the job has not been posted, as yet, but it probably "will go up after the Easter vacation," pending school board approval.

"We will be looking for someone from within the school system who is interested and qualified for the position," Coleman added.

Although Dennard was not available for comment, Leit Jones, athletic director at the high school, confirmed that the sophomore head coach had resigned.

"We are looking for a new coach (basketball)," Jones said, "and the position will be posted as soon as we get board clearance."

Dennard, a former All-Area Robichaud cage star, took the Bulldogs to the Suburban Athletic Conference and a Class B district championship in his inaugural coaching year.

However, this season, although Robichaud got off to an excellent start, Dennard and the Bulldogs lost 6-5 Michael Aaron in mid-season because of ineligibility, and the Robichaud comet plummeted. They managed to salvage a district title before losing in overtime to Milan in the first round of the Class B regional playoffs.

Sports spotlight on all-area wrestlers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The high school sports spotlight next week will turn to the top prep wrestlers.

Two schools - Belleville and Romulus - which captured their respective conference championships and received their share of medals at the state tournament will provide the bulk of the All-Area candidates.

Who are these outstanding prep wrestlers?
And who will be the 'Coach of the Year'?

Those questions will be answered on these pages next week, so don't miss a fitting tribute to some of the best grapplers in the state.

HOUSEHOLD FACE LIFT

Use new shingles, siding to create refreshed look

For some, a house is an investment. For others, it's a roof over their heads. For most, a house is a home and a sense of pride of ownership.

How it looks to friends and neighbors means a great deal to them. Thus, a roof that begins to show age makes owners uneasy. It must be replaced.

One way to determine whether it's time to replace a roof is to look for cracked, curled or missing shingles. If the roof has standard shingles and it is at least 15 years old, it's time for replacement.

A source of pride of ownership comes from the ability to choose building products that offer good value and good looks. One product homeowners can count on to offer such value in addition to attractive appearance, longevity and low maintenance is asphalt shingles.

No single element plays quite a role in the overall protection of a home as does the roof, according to officials at Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association. After all, the roof works continuously to protect everything underneath.

Standard asphalt shingles are available with one, two or three tabs and are made of a base mat of organic cellulose fibers or inorganic glass fibers. The organic mat is saturated with asphalt, the inorganic is not.

Both are coated with asphalt for weatherproofing, then surfaced with ceramic-coated opaque mineral granules to protect the shingles from the drying effects of sunlight and to give the shingles an added protection against fire.

To determine the kind of protection needed when choosing new roofing, remember the cost of labor for application is usually the same, regardless of the design life of the shingle being applied.

To estimate the probable annual cost of a new roof, add the cost of labor and materials and divide the total by the life expectancy of the shingle. The longer the design life of the shingle, the more economical it is likely to be, because the cost of materials and labor is amortized in a longer period of time.

Re-siding with vinyl siding and new shingles on the roof turned this neighborhood eyesore (top) into a neighborhood attraction (bottom). Other major exterior remodeling included custom vinyl trim, windows, shutters and gutters. Special photo to ANP

To determine the kind of protection needed when choosing new roofing, remember the cost of labor for application is usually the same, regardless of the design life of the shingle being applied.

Choosing a shingle with a longer design life is also a good way to express pride in ownership. Three-dimensional asphalt shingles with a design life of 25 years or more create a roof with dramatically bold textures by giving a roof a distinctive appearance with eye-appealing shadow lines.

Multi-layered asphalt shingles are available in a wide range of colors, including popular earthtones, to blend or contrast with other exterior color elements. ■

Builder's Show sure to inspire everyone

The 1989 International Builder's Home, Flower and Furniture Show has expanded to include more than 800 booths, featuring exhibitors from the U.S. and Canada. It has become the largest home show in the world, all under one roof.

Approximately 500,000 square feet will be open for the Detroit event.

"The Builders Show has become an international show with exhibitors from all over Canada," said James S. Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. "Over the past 71 years, the Builders Show has evolved into a living exhibition, as our participants feature anything and everything for the home."

Experts in every area of residential construction, heating and cooling, design, financing and remodeling are on hand to demonstrate their wares and answers questions from the public.

The latest home furnishings and construction are exhibited and demonstrations on many aspects of home remodeling will be staged.

The 1989 show will feature more model homes than ever. Manufactured homes, timber-framed homes and homes made from logs will be on display.

Of course, it wouldn't be the popular Builders Show without thousands of flowers, shrubs and greenery that transform Cobo Hall into a breath of spring. An area more than the size of six football fields will feature various landscaped gardens complete with gazebos, fountains, flowers, trees and areas where visitors can sit. Ten gardens are constructed this year.

"There are several new and exciting exhibitors at this year's show. The metro Detroit Cadillac Gold Key dealers are sponsoring a pictorial display, from the Smithsonian Institute, titled 'Remaking America,' which showcases new uses for historic buildings. As part of the exhibit, Cadillacs from the past and present will be on display," Bonadeo said.

The Marketing Plaza, also new to the show, will feature an unusual array of retail exhibitors who will sell everything from a better mousetrap to an instant hand-warmer.

Some of the exhibitors include Invisible Fencing System, of Birmingham, which specializes in "invisible" dog containment systems that safely keep a dog in the yard without a fence.

The Builder's Show continues through Easter Sunday at Cobo Hall. Hours are 10 to 11 p.m. weekdays; 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are $5.50 for adults, $.350 for seniors and students, free for children 6 and younger.

Discount coupons are available at Elias Brothers restaurants and Farmer Jack supermarkets. ■

Making a less-than-glamorous bath of roomy comfort is easier than one would think. And it need not be a financial burden, according to Dan Cannady, design expert from the Micarta laminate division of Westinghouse.

Even the tiniest bath has a sink. Enclosing it to convert it into a vanity can add much style and offer extra stashing space, too.

Or build a wall-to-wall counter top around the sink. The counter might even wrap around the corner if space permits.

This bi-level bathroom vanity top (far left) is fabricated with Du Pont Corian Sierra Pink Coral. The edge treatment is an inlay of Corian Cameo White. The base of the installation is fabricated from Corian Satin Gray. Bathroom remodelers can use solid-surfacing materials in a variety of ways. At left, a consumer needed towel space. So, white and midnight towel shelves were fabricated. Special photos to ANP a laminate-covered step-up enclosure will give it a spa stature. The ledges are useful for bathing paraphernalia as well as for a basket of magazines and, perhaps, some potted plants.

For the man's bath, a tub enclosure surfaced with a leather-look laminate or a wood design is classy.

For the woman's bath, a laminate with a luminous depth of gemstone to cover a vanity counter or tub surround is a nice touch.

"This laminate represents new technology, and it is very beautiful and luxurious," Cannady said. "It is especially effective in the bath, where mirrors and other reflective surfaces bring out the laminates crystalline effects."

A way to add storage is to adopt some of the Eurostyled cabinetry that is becoming popular in kitchens.

These cabinets are frameless and laminate-covered.

Borrow a trick from designers and cover the walls with laminate. Solid colors borrowed from the Williamsburg colonial palette are nice touches for a country bath. Bleached wood looks and neutral solid colors suit contemporary rooms. Rich, dark wood designs and jewel colors are excellent choices for traditional baths. Elaborate birds-eye finishes and mauve, grey and pink solids beckon art-decor fanciers.

Because relatively little time is spent in the bath, this is one room that can use much color. But, remember, baths aren't only for hair-dryers and cosmetics. Try to begin a collection of perfume flacons for the vanity counter or hang art on the walls. ■

BEAUTY BEGINS

Excitement, color and space are often forgotten bathroom

Choose one of the laminate fashions for the counter top. Most popular today are neutral almond and gray colors. But warm, Southwestern hues, such as coral, cinnamon and mauve, are common, as well.

Stone finishes are also popular for bathroom counter tops. They range from classic marble to granite looks. Laminate stone designs look effective when they are shaped to wrap around the edge in one sleek, rounded line — also called postforming. Here, a thinner-than-normal lamin-ate is heated to become pliable enough to shape.

Postforming is also the technique cabinetmakers use to produce curved storage units, columns, mirror frames and other elegant touches that make a difference in the bath.

Fit closets and open-wall shelves into every available space. For a bath that boasts special places for linens, toiletries and grooming equipment will look neater and bigger, Cannady said.

Surrounding an ordinary tub with

1990s colors will be 'kind, gentle'

"In the coming years, interior furnishings colors will grow warmer and more comforting," according to Janice Hall, interior designer and senior stylist for Allied Fibers. "We see an interior palette on the American horizon that is greatly influenced by international color trends well into the 1990s."

Her forecast identifies four major color directions — all from different parts of the world — as the trend-setters.

"The American southwest has had an important influence on the decorating scene for the last several years," Hall said. "In the coming years, the family of earth tones will be warmed and brightened by South American highlights."

Calling the direction "South of the Border," Hall picked red as the dominant color for the 1990s. In home furnishings, this Latin fever takes the form of red corals replacing the blue-tinted mauves that have been popular in the 1980s. Look for browned reds, rich russets and deep-toned reds in carpet to be used with velvety brown textiles and rich, dark woods.

A slightly more exotic color direction will arrive from India. Labeled "The Jewell of the Crown," this palette features burnt colorings of spice and curry and rich, saturated shades of clay, rattan and nonmetallic gold.

The third direction from Japan is called "Dawn over Mount Fuji." Soft neutral tones, like rice paper and straw, are featured. Airy tints, reminiscent of oriental gardens, are also moving in this direction.

The final palette brings us the sophistication of Great Britain. Called "The House of Windsor," they are rich shades perfect for tweed fabrics and multicolored carpets. Look for shades of plum pudding, English lavender and imperial purple, as well as London fog and regal blue. ■

Sprucing up a drab room with a new spring look can be easily accomplished with the nearly limitless selection of wallpapers and coordinating borders and fabrics available – and the help of your neighborhood banker. Available are both home-equity loans and home-improvements loans to aid the financial burden of springtime remodeling and redecorating. Special photo to ANP

FINANCING IMPROVEMENTS

Use home equity, borrowing power to add new life to your residence

For those planning to building a new home or make a few home improvements, area lending institutions have a few solutions to the financial setbacks.

Home-improvement and home-equity loans are available at most local lending institutions.

To be accepted for either of the loans, lending-institution officials will request a credit-rating check on the individual applying for the assistance, according to Doreen Young, assistant vice president, customer bank officer, of First of America Bank-Wayne. If the check shows good credit for the individual, the loan will be given and arrangements for repaying the assistance will be discussed.

The two loans both provide assistance for home improvements. The home-equity loan, however, is similar to a credit card.

The equity loan acts as a credit card, in which the user simply takes it upon himself to take out a loan, Young said. The credit limit is based on 70 percent of the appraisal value of the home equity. For example, if a home is appraised at $100,000 and a family owes $50,000, a home-equity credit line of $20,000 would be available.

Home-equity loans feature variable interest rates. The credit-line limit also varies between lenders, but it is typically set at between 70 and 75 percent of the home equity.

Home-equity loan interest rates are based on the prime lending rate. The current rate is 11.5 percent.

Rates may climb to 13.5 percent by April, Young said. A cap for home-equity loans is set at 18 percent. Rates may change quarterly.

Home-equity loans at First of America are calculated on six-year terms, Young said. However, homeowners may spend up to the credit limit – like a credit card – forever, as long as their credit remains good.

A minimum monthly payment of $100 is charged on the home-equity loans at First of America. When applying for the loans, proof of employment and income is needed.

Home-improvement loans, on the other hand, are typically one-time loans, Young said.

“(Homeowners) should come in and fill out an application for that and fill out a second-mortgage application – also known as a home-improvement application. If they have good credit and the capacity to pay things off, they should get it,” Young said.

Depending on the amount of money requested, a second mortgage may not be necessary, Young said.

Processing time at First of America for second-mortgage loans is approximately two weeks. Signature loans for home improvements may take only three days, Young said.

Home-improvement loans at First of America feature an up-to 120-month term. This term varies among area lending institutions.

Interest rates are fixed for home-improvement loans. The rate is currently set at 14 percent. ■

Keep records for next tax season

Many do-it-yourselfers eagerly await the start of warmer weather to take on a variety of home-improvement projects, including building decks, upgrading attic insulation and installing exterior insulation.

When purchasing the materials for these projects, however, it's important to keep sales receipts for records.

Why? Because, with tax laws, home-improvement costs may help reduce the amount of capital-gains tax individuals pay when they sell their home. Also, if a home-equity loan is used to finance home improvements, the interest costs may be fully deductible.

As a rule of thumb, projects that qualify for tax deductions include capital improvements, such as room additions and adding extra levels of insulation.

Whatever home improvements are started this season, remember to keep records of the entire process. Record keeping is good in case a tax audit arrives in the mail. And it's good for the pocketbook. ■

When do you need a building permit?

Spring is typically the season for home improvements, and it is also the time of year when homeowners wonder if they need a building permit before making such improvements.

What follows is a list of the various building-permit rules for each city served by the Associated Newspapers. Also listed below are the various home improvements which require municipal building permits.

When do you need a building permit? When you are:

- Reframing, restructuring a house
- Constructing a shed
- Constructing home addition
- Installing new electrical work
- Erecting new fence
- Adding new porch to house
- Building anything on yard
- Constructing a new garage
- Laying cement work
- Making structural change
- Installing new plumbing
- Add chimney to house
- Adding any swimming pool

When don't you need a building permit? When you are:

- Doing general maintenance
- Adding aluminum siding
- Making interior renovations
- Adding new shingles/roof
- Painting, wallpapering interior

LAY IT ON

Carpeting blends varied to several styles, rooms

Of all the aesthetic benefits that wall-to-wall carpet contribute to the enhancement of the personal-home environments, none is quite distinctive as texture.

Until they start shopping seriously for carpet, few people realize the wide range of textural variety that is available - from rich, velvety plush to more casual twisted saxonomies, from nubbie-looped Berbers to elegant-carved effects. For confident selection, identify the kinds of carpet available and understand what each will do for your home.

Many carpet styles and patterns originate from six basic textures. These include the following:

- Velvet - This is a carpet in which yarn tufts have been sheared away. It is the most elegant broadloom texture. Fine denier yarns densely packed together for an ultra-smooth sweep of rich color is a quality of this. Velvet is durable and long-lasting and is best used in the master bedroom, guest room or living room, where there isn't much family traffic.

- Saxony - Called plush, this also has the yarn tufts sheared away. Greater durability and less formal appeal than velvet are qualities of this. This is suited for hallways, stairways and living room.

- Frieze - Known as textured plush, frieze has the yarns highly twisted, giving it rugged durability

Know the rules

Calculating carpet need is not difficult to determine. Carpeting officials recommend carefully measuring rooms on graph paper and making sure details are recorded accurately.

Most carpet is sold in square yards. To calculate the square yardage of rooms, multiply the width, in feet, times length, also in feet, and divide by nine.

Most carpet is sold in 12-foot widths. If the room is wider or longer than 12 feet, carpet pieces will have to be seamed together to cover the floor.

- Level Loop - The carpet yarn in this is tufted in loops of the same height and width. Usually styled in small tight loops or fat, Berber loops, it is an extremely informal carpet with informal appeal. This is good for hallways and for heavy house traffic areas.

- Multi-level Loops - This varies in height and width of the loop pile to create different patterns and designs, but the carpet retains rugged durability and wear resistance, even in high-traffic areas. This is suited for hallways and recreation rooms; and

- Cut and loop - This is also called tracery and combines cut and loop piles in varying heights to create unusual carved effects. ■

Save money with quick repairs

Many homeowners who remember the hot summer are looking for ways to cut costs of cooling their homes during the summer months. The key to an energy-efficient home is knowing how and where to save.

What follows are 10 energy-saving tips that involve little or no cost.

- Check to see that the attic insulation levels meet the new energy standards. If not, add an extra layer of insulation;

- Add caulking and weatherstripping around the windows and doors. Cool air can leak out through cracks around these areas;

- Install awnings over windows exposed to direct sunlight. White or light-colored awnings are most effective;

- Install an automatic setback thermostat. This will automatically lower or increase the temperature in the home while residents are away;

- Clean or replace the airconditioner filter. A dirty filter will block the flow of air, making the cooling unit work harder and less efficiently;

- Plant deciduous trees, such as maples and oaks, on the southern and western sides of the home. Their big leaves can provide shade for sides of the home;

- Check the attic air vents and clean them of dust or debris. If the attic is not vented, the air conditioner will have to work harder;

- Insulate and seal the air-conditioning ducts. The joints and fittings of the duct system may allow air to pass into the attic, causing energy loss;

- Have the cooling unit cleaned and tuned. Energy consumption can be reduced by 10 percent because of this; and

- Install ceiling fans in rooms that are used frequently. They will circulate cool, still air and cut down air-conditioning use. ■

EYES ON ENERGY

Use insulation, window covering as cost savers

A carefully chosen home-improvement project can not only improve the appearance of the residence but also help protect the substantial investment of a home.

Adding insulation in the form of an underlayment board during residing is one of those projects that can cut heating and cooling costs.

Many contractors choose Fome-Cor underlayment board by Monsanto with foil facing not only because it provides a smooth, level surface for the application of new siding, but also because it offers a system insulating value of 5.76 as well. The product produces an effective wall system R-value of 19.

"R" means resistance to heat flow. The higher the R-value, the greater the insulating power.

"You can get the best of both worlds," said Phil Glover, market manager for Fome-Cor products. "You get a higher system R-value with the foil-faced Fome-Cor board and a breathable underlayment board that allows potentially damaging moisture from cooking and bathing to escape."

Condensation, water damage and rot - three major problems that can result from choosing the wrong underlayment board - can be avoided by choosing a breathable underlayment product.

Fome-Cor board consists of one-quarter inch extruded polystyrene foam laminated between one layer of white linerboard and a layer of kraft linerboard and perforated foil. Produced in continuous sheets 4 feet by 50 feet, Fome-Cor board is rigid, lightweight and fan-folded every two feet for easy handling.

Many contractors choose Fome-Cor board because it helps reduce air infiltration - the seepage of air into and out of a home. Many engineers and architects agree that air infiltration can account for as much as 30 percent of heat loss in a home. Much of this loss is through cracks and seams in walls.

Don't forget about the home windows

A new generation of window film is available to homeowners.

Once installed in a window, the film darkens automatically, depending on the amount of exposure to direct sunlight. The film darkens enough to provide optimum protection, making occupants more comfortable, saving energy and protecting furnishings from harmful ultraviolet rays, while allowing maximum light levels to be maintained.

Up to 51 percent of the summer heat can be rejected, while some of the heat normally lost through the windows is retained.

For the first time, homeowners can install a window film which provides the exact amount of protection but only when it's needed.

Homeowners no longer need to be concerned about interiors that are darkened by window film. The film may darken, depending on sunlight intensity, but will lighten again when the sun is no longer shining.

Easily installed the inside of the glass, it can be purchased in do-it-yourself kits and through home-decorating and home-improvement centers. ■

COVER YOUR FLOORS WITH WORRY FREE CARPET AND THE WALLS ARE ON US.

BUY 50 SQUARE YARDS OF WORRY FREE CARPET AND GET TWO GALLONS OF PRATT & LAMBERT ACCOLADE PAINT FREE.

Come in for Worry Free carpet now through May 7 and we'll also help you cover your walls. With Pratt & Lambert Accolade, the world's finest paint. Like Worry Free carpet, Pratt & Lambert Accolade is stain-resistant, soil-resistant and can survive many years without showing signs of wear. Which makes it the paint that could also be described as worry free.

So it should come as no surprise that two gallons of Accolade have a value of over $50. But you'll value the fact that with this offer, they're free.

Just buy 50 square yards or more of Worry Free carpet and mail this coupon along with your carpet receipt to the address on the coupon. And in a week or less you'll receive a voucher good for two free gallons of Accolade at participating paint retailers.

But you'll have to come in soon. Because after May 7, your chance to get two free gallons of the world's finest paint will dry up.

IT'S MORE THAN JUST STAIN RESISTANT. IT'S TOTALLY WORRY FREE.

GOOD FOR TWO FREE GALLONS OF PRATT & LAMBERT PAINT.

To receive your certificate for two gallons of Pratt & Lambert Accolade, buy 50 square yards or more of Allied Anso V Worry Free carpet between March 6, 1989 and May 7, 1989. Complete all information on this form and mail it, along with your Anso V Worry Free carpet dated sales receipt to: Allied Pratt & Lambert Paint Offer, P.O. Box 4127 Blair, NE 68009. Limit one certificate per household or organization. Please allow one week from receipt of your claim to receive your paint voucher. Offer void wherever prohibited, taxed or otherwise restricted.

No cash checks or other prize/product guarantees will be honored. Certificate is non-transferable, non-reproducible. Carpet purchases must be made between March 6, 1989 and May 7, 1989. Paint vouchers redeemable in all participating Pratt & Lambert paint dealers in the U.S.A. & Canada. Vouchers expire June 30th, 1989. Allied Fibers/Pratt & Lambert are not responsible for loss, late or misdirected mail. Offer good in U.S.A. and Canada only. Source material from duplicate requests will not be returned.
